

Who We Are

Stephanie Jahnz is an estate planning, probate, and guardianship attorney who focuses her practice in Montgomery County, Texas. Her experience includes representing clients both on the planning side and the courtroom side of her practice. While she enjoys working with clients from every walk of life, Stephanie especially enjoys helping families who have children with special needs. Stephanie received her Bachelor of Arts with Honors from The University of Texas at Austin and her Doctor of Jurisprudence from the University of Houston Law Center. Stephanie established her own law firm in 2014, after working for a large estate planning and guardianship practice in Houston. She currently serves as an ad litem attorney in both Montgomery and Harris County courts to supplement her experience and benefit the local community.
